Andromeda 'Bergy Bit'

Chinook Sunrise™

Aurora Borealis™

The Andromeda polifolia 'Bergy Bit' was selected through the Plant Breeding Program "Plant Atlantic" at the Memorial University of Newfoundland Botanical Garden (MUNBG). The plant is hardy, grows in full sun, and appears to be tolerant to drier conditions compared to other andromeda. The white flowers and blue-tinted foliage are similar to the colours of 'Bergy Bit', a local term for a small iceberg.

The Chinook Sunrise™ rose will be release in 2019. It's the second addition to Vineland's 49th Parallel Collection. It blooms in a flush with a riot of exotic coral colours. It's a perfect rose, for both experienced and new gardeners, to integrate the beauty of low-maintenance roses into their outdoor living.

The Aurora Borealis™ rose, the third addition to Vineland's 49th Parallel Collection, is now available for production. The hardy rose will be release in 2021. The rose flower colour is sunset pink and blooms in flushes throughout the season with a light fragrance. Foliage is dark green and glossy. It is resistant to black spot and powdery mildew.
